The Best Place To Be On The Best Day Of The Week

When God Deals with Evil: Are You Ready for His Judgment?

Have you ever found yourself crying out to God, asking Him to deal with all the evil in the world? It's a natural response when we see wickedness, suffering, and injustice around us. But there's a sobering question we must ask ourselves: when God finally rids the world of all evil, what will He do with me?

Many people wonder if we're living in the "last days." The truth is, the last days began on the day of Pentecost, 2,000 years ago. When Peter preached in Acts 2, he declared that Joel's prophecies were being fulfilled right before their eyes. Since Pentecost, God has been actively ridding creation of evil and filling it with His goodness through Jesus, His Spirit, and the proclamation of the Gospel.

It's like being a child who calls for a parent to come deal with a sibling's misbehavior, only to discover that you're also in trouble. When we cry out for God to judge the world's evil, we must remember that some of that evil exists within us.

The crowd listening to Peter's sermon had likely been among those shouting "Crucify Him!" just months earlier. They wanted God to deal with wickedness, yet when God sent His Son, they nailed Him to a cross. This reveals a sobering truth: some of the people crying loudest for God to judge evil are the very ones who need to be judged.

Peter delivered shocking news: the man they had crucified was now the supreme ruler of the universe. Jesus sits at God's right hand, and every authority answers to Him. He is bringing the entire world into subjection to Himself. This wasn't just future hope; it was present reality. The new kingdom had begun, and Jesus was actively ruling as King of kings and Lord of lords.

Here's the remarkable part of God's plan: Jesus conquers His enemies not through violence, but through love. Instead of destroying those who rebelled against Him, He offers them forgiveness, adoption into His family, and the chance to reign with Him. Jesus simply asks people to repent, be baptized in His name for the forgiveness of sins, and receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.

This is how God has been dealing with evil for over 2,000 years—not through destruction, but through transformation. He turns enemies into family members, rebels into loyal subjects.

Instead of asking why God is slow to deal with evil in the world, perhaps we should ask: "Am I being slow to deal with the evil in me?" God's apparent delay isn't weakness or indifference—it's patience and love. He doesn't want anyone to perish but wants everyone to call upon His name and receive salvation.

This week, examine your own heart. Are you truly living in submission to King Jesus, or are there areas where you're still in rebellion against His rule?
