

Why Do Relational Sins Seem So Easy to Justify?

By: David Sproule

It seems that there are some sins which are quickly and universally condemned, such as murder, stealing, rape, child molestation, etc. The very thought of these (and others) can be so repulsive to some that they immediately condemn any practice of it.

Yet, there are some other sins that even Christians seem to have a hard time standing against. These often involve a relationship of some kind, and when it involves someone that a Christian loves, it pulls at the heartstrings to the point that even a Christian sometimes will soften and “not see it as a big deal.” Let me see if I can give some illustrations.

Some Christian parents, who are strong in their faith, have been faced with one of their own children becoming a homosexual. Not wanting to “lose” connection with their kid, some parents have weakened and grown to accept (at some level) the choice of their child.

Other Christian parents have struggled to know how to handle a child who moves in with a lover, has children, builds a life, and lives with all the privileges (and appearances) of a married couple with children, without actually being married. Some parents have just gone along to “keep the peace.”

Many Christians have been challenged by God’s teaching on marriage, divorce and remarriage. They have friends who are in a marriage that is adulterous in the eyes of God. And when there are children involved, it is so common for a Christian to say, “How can God expect them to separate! There’s no way He would! What will that do to the children?”

Often Christians put themselves into relationships that are adulterous in the eyes of God, but they are so “in love” and believe so much they “have a right to be happy” that they say, “God will understand” or “God can’t expect me to live alone the rest of my life.”

Many other examples could be given, but hopefully these suffice to illustrate how painful, personal and heart-rending these kinds of situations can be. Some sins can be immediately condemned, but then others challenge us to the point of acceptance.

Consider ten things: (1) God’s law is always right (Psa. 19:7-9; Hos. 14:9). (2) God’s law is unchanging (Psa. 119:89; 1 Pet. 1:25). (3) God shows no partiality (Rom. 2:11; 1 Pet. 1:17). (4) Sin is always wrong (Rom. 6:23; Gal. 5:19-21). (5) No sin can ever be right or acceptable to God (Prov. 6:16-19; Gal. 1:4). (6) Right in one’s own eyes is foolishness to God (Prov. 12:15; Isa. 5:21). (7) Showing approval of sin is a sin itself (Rom. 1:32; 2 John 9-11). (8) One can resist sin with God’s help (1 Cor. 6:11, 18-20; Jas. 4:7-8). (9) One can live single for life for God’s sake and with His help (Matt. 19:11-12; 1 Cor. 7:10-11, 32). (10) We must not conform and must help others to not conform (Rom. 12:1-2; Matt. 5:13-16).

As the End Approaches

By: Selected

Perhaps it is because I am getting older, but it is hard to believe that another year is about to come to an end. To a four year old child, it takes “forever” for him or her to turn five. If you are 54, that time to 55 seems like a few months. If you are 74, it seems more like a few weeks!

Just days before His death, Jesus spoke of the approaching end of Judaism and temple worship, and He gave eight signs that would be manifested before that time came. The eighth sign was that when the gospel would be preached to the world, then there would be an end (Matt. 24:14). In His trial, He told Caiaphas that starting that day of His trial the high priest would see the one he was killing coming and ruling in power (Matt. 26:64). When Paul wrote Colossians, he said that the eighth sign happened (Col. 1:23).

It should not surprise us that both Peter and James talked about this end. James said that the end was at hand and that the Judge was standing at the door about to bring judgment (Jas. 5:8-9). Peter affirmed that the end was at hand (1 Pet. 4:7). Had you lived in that first century, you would have seen the signs being fulfilled as God destroyed the temple and brought about the end of Judaism. Thankfully, Peter then gave encouragement as to what to do when the end was at hand.

The application of Peter’s encouragement can impact us every time we see an “end” coming. As you age, you can see the end of your life approaching so rapidly. You attend the funerals of others (some even younger than you), and Peter’s words seem so appropriate. In a similar way, the end of 2025 would be a good time to see what Peter emphasized.

First, Peter says to be sober, to be serious (1 Pet. 4:7). As a new year approaches, it would be wise to give serious thought as to how much you have grown spiritually. Are you closer to the Lord as this year ends than what you were when it began? Give serious thought to the direction of your life.

Peter then says to be watchful in prayers. As the end approaches, spend time praying about dealing with temptations that surround you. Seriously pray about your life.

Then Peter says that as the end approached there should be fervent love for each other. This love covers many of those awkward times of dealing with others. He specifically mentions hospitality. How much have you gone out of your way sharing times with others? As the end approaches, should you change how much time you spend with your brothers?

Take time to read verses ten and eleven. You will be amazed seeing two other applications of what to do as the end approaches. There is an end approaching—be serious!
